OLD FRUIT TREES

These old fruit trees have been pruned for decades and will instantly lend an air of maturity and character to the garden. They will look perfect in the traditional country garden but will indeed be a useful addition to any garden.

Taken from orchards, the trees are mostly low branching making fruit picking easy. Please ask for more details.

The old espalier pear trees are really spectacular and planted against a wall will give the impression that they were placed there by our forebears, whilst planted in rows as a free standing garden partition they will create an intriguing garden room.

This is truly a way of introducing an aura of bygone days and they will bring with them their own evidence of years of skilled husbandry.

You may find these trees surprisingly cost effective - please contact us for more details.
